FESTAL

Week For People of St. Charles Borromeo Parish Is Over.

Thousands Congratulated the Rev. Father Raffo on Jubilee.

Children, Clergy and Parents Showed Respect For Pastor.

NICE PURSE FROM HIS PEOPLE

Rev. Father Charles P. Raffo, pastor of St. Charles Borromeo's, celebrated his silver jubilee this week. What does that mean? To the simple, pious Catholic it means that for a quarter of a century he has been a faithful priest of God. Twenty-five years at the altar, Catholics know what it means, but Father Raffo has hosts of friends outside the Catholic pale who have not realized fully what this silver jubilee means any more than they can realize the difference between two and twenty-five years. The present day American wants figures, statistics for everything. "What has Father Raffo done during these twenty-five years?" one will ask. Figure it up yourself. One mass every day, two on Sundays and three on Christmas days, more than 10,500 times has he offered the holy sacrifice. The number of confessions he has heard, the number of persons to whom he has given holy communion, the children he has baptized, the many couples he has joined in holy matrimony, the hundreds he has prepared for death and the sermons he has preached would stagger the statistician. His friends and his people have some idea of the good that he has accomplished, and to that end joined with him this week in celebrating his silver jubilee.

The celebration began on Wednesday morning when the children of St. Charles Borromeo school showed their reverence for the beloved pastor. Father Raffo was summoned to the school, where the children, gaily attired, sang under the leadership of their teacher, Miss Mary McGee. The children then marched to the church where solemn high mass was celebrated by Father Raffo, with the Rev. Father Joseph Horgan, of Lebanon, as deacon, and Rev. Father Robert J. Caneen, subdeacon. Father Horgan, a former classmate of Father Raffo, preached a brief sermon. The children presented the jubilee with a beautiful set of altar cruets.

The regular anniversary celebration took place on Thursday morning. The church had been fully decorated with flowers and plants, and the altars shone with myriads of lights. The Right Rev. William George McCloskey, Bishop of Louisville, and one of Father Raffo's oldest friends, occupied a throne in the sanctuary. The Right Rev. Edward M. O'Connell, Abbot of Gethsemani, and several Trappists were also in the sanctuary. At least seventy-five priests attended the mass. In the throng were secular clergy, brown and black Franciscans, Dominicans and Passionists.

The reverend jubilarian began the celebration of solemn high mass at 10 o'clock. The Rev. Father P. M. J. Rock, rector of the Cathedral, was deacon of the mass, with the Rev. Father Leo Greulich, O. M. C., as subdeacon, and the Rev. Fathers Thomas W. White, of St. Francis, of Rome, and Oscar P. Ackerman, of St. Philip Neri's church, were masters of ceremonies. All of these are old and close personal friends of Father Raffo. Assistants to the Bishop during the mass were the Very Rev. Father William J. Cronin, V. G., of St. Patrick's church, and Rev. Father Louis Ohle, of St. Martin's. The sermon, a masterpiece of oratory, was preached by another friend and former seminary companion of Father Raffo, the Rev. Father Thomas A. Hayes, of Bowling Green. An augmented choir, under the direction of Miss Maggie Gorman, rendered the music of the mass in a superb manner.

After the mass Father Raffo received the congratulations of his parishioners. Thomas Feely, in behalf of the congregation, presented the jubilarian with a well-filled purse as a slight token of esteem. The ladies of the congregation provided an elaborate breakfast for Father Raffo and the clergy. Several toasts were offered and responded to while the feast was in progress. The General's orchestra, which assisted in rendering the music of the mass, also furnished delightful music while the reverend clergy were discussing the menu.

HARD ON JOHN D.

T. P. O'Connor, M. P., in his review of John D. Rockefeller's "Random Reminiscences of Men and Events" calls the book "The Apologia of Mr. Rockefeller." His scathing words are attracting attention on both sides of the Atlantic. This is a sample of what he has to say: "Imagine the Marquis of Chichester sitting down to prove to an expectant world that he has always been one of the best of Irish landlords—that his struggles with his tenants have all been misunderstood and were inspired solely by a desire for their good. Imagine him setting forth a perfect absence of any sense of self-reproach; with the calm, tranquil self-assurance of a good man doing good to everybody."

without resentment, as well as without self-reproach; breathing the pure atmosphere of some saint that had lived in a desert, remote from all human emotions such as hatred, felt or received. Imagine such a book, and you have some idea of John D. Rockefeller. I have read many books which were a surprise to me, and in vivid contrast to what I had expected them to be, but this book of Mr. Rockefeller's is the greatest surprise of my reading-life."

NEW QUARTERS

Are Quite Satisfactory to Ladies' Auxiliary of A. O. H.

The Ladies' Auxiliary, A. O. H., met in its new quarters in Falls City Hall Wednesday night for the first time. Mrs. Rose Sweeney presided and the attendance was quite large. All were delighted with the new hall and did not hesitate to express their appreciation of the change. A number of Hibernians were present at the meeting as visitors, among them William T. McLean, President of the Cecilia Choral Club, who invited the ladies to attend the forthcoming performance of "El Capitan" and asked their hearty co-operation in support of worthy objects. D. J. Coleman and John Hession were present in behalf of Division 3, and announced a day's outing for the near future and invited the ladies to join with them in the undertaking.

Miss Sweeney announced that the auxiliary had arranged to give a social on the evening of Wednesday, June 16, and in behalf of the auxiliary extended an invitation to all Hibernians to be present on that occasion. One new member was initiated and one application received. Two members were expelled from the list, one leaving only Miss Bridget Hanrahan and Maggie Lynch numbered among the sick. At the close of the business session the members were regaled with vocal and instrumental selections by various members.

STRICKLY BUSINESS

Was the Session of Macklin Council On Tuesday Night.

Macklin Council held a splendid business meeting Tuesday night. The attendance was large and President Louis J. Kieffer presided. Peter Heil and George Barish, who had been ill, were reported fully recovered. The members were again reminded that the council would give a smoker and social session on the night of Tuesday, June 15, in celebration of the final liquidation of Macklin's indebtedness.

On the same evening the new membership committee will disclose its scheme for attracting candidates. Care will be taken to secure only those young men who will remain faithful to the organization after they have entered. Quite a lot of other routine business was disposed of during the evening.

The members of Macklin's Choral Club will be tendered a reception in appreciation of the good work done in behalf of the council in the four performances of "Back to Town." It is yet to be determined whether this happy celebration will be in the nature of a banquet, trolley ride or dance.

SACRED HEART

Of Jesus to be Honored During the Present Month.

June is a month devoted to the Sacred Heart of Jesus in a special manner. A plenary indulgence may be gained applicable to the souls in purgatory on the last Sunday in June by receiving absolution and holy communion. The month will be religiously observed by the faithful in this diocese.

The special devotion to the Heart of Jesus, which is now so popular in the church, owes its origin to a French Visitation nun, the Blessed Margaret Mary Alcouque, who lived in the latter part of the seventeenth century. Her biographers relate that our Lord appeared to her and declared that this worship was most acceptable to Him. Her director, the noted Jesuit, Father de la Columbiere, preached the devotion at the court of St. James and zealously propagated it elsewhere.

In 1765 Pope Clement XIII. permitted several churches to celebrate the feast of the Sacred Heart, but not until 1856 was it extended to the whole church.

TO SAVE CATHEDRAL

Advices from Madrid, Spain, say that the Government has decided to save the famous Cathedral of Toledo from ruin. It is one of the oldest and finest pieces of architecture in Spain. It has been robbed of its celebrated paintings and adornments to decorate the galleries of Spanish Government buildings. A royal decree has just been issued transforming the Cathedral into a national monument, and provision will be made in each year's budget for its gradual restoration.

UNITED IRISH LEAGUE

The annual conference of the United Irish League was held at Manchester, England, last week and Hon. T. P. O'Connor was re-elected President for the twenty-sixth year. Hon. Joseph Devlin was re-elected Vice President. A resolution approving the exclusion of Maurice Healy was adopted.

SHATTERED.

One by One Idols of Evening Post Are Being Broken Rapidly.

Republican Machine Is Making Assessments For Coming Campaign.

Cincinnati Firm Takes Big Contract From Local Firms and Workmen.

WAS AFRAID OF AN AIR GUN

Another of the Louisville Evening Post's idols seems to have been shattered by his own conduct, and the public is asking "Who will be the next?" Whenever the picture of a city official is printed in the Post and the individual held up as a model of probity, look out. The Post has not denied or resented the publication last week concerning the escapade of the City Auditor. There was nothing to deny or refute. Neither has the Post ever denied that their other pet, Robert Foster, has a prison record.

The Republican machine seems anxious to collect a goodly campaign fund, and some few firemen and policemen have had the temerity to kick against being assessed arbitrarily. But they must either submit or hunt other jobs. It has been brought to light that one county official levied an assessment of 15 per cent. of their salaries on his deputies to help pay the expense of the Republican primary. Now it is being bruited about that from now until November the deputies in several of our counties will be assessed each month to build up a campaign fund. One fireman, who gets $65 a month, has been touched for $15 as a starter. A young lady employed in the office of a county official found $14 deducted from her April salary. When asked why this was so, she was told it was a campaign assessment.

At the Republican convention recently held at Masonic Theater it was announced that the present city administration had suppressed gambling in Louisville. That announcement was hardly made before a member of the detective force visited a well known saloon proprietor and advised him to "open a little game upstairs. If you are interfered with by the police call me up. I have a telephone in my room and will see that you get ample protection. All I want is half the take out," said the detective. The game has not been opened, but the saloon-keeper is afraid to report the matter lest his legitimate business be interfered with.

Some of the new police are wonders of intelligence and personal bravery. In a southern section of the city the father of an alleged incorrigible twelve-year-old boy summoned the police. He wanted the wayward youngster presented in the Juvenile Court for one week. The policeman sent was a strapping big fellow, brother of a county officer. On arriving at the scene of trouble the father pointed out the boy. The policeman started toward him, and the boy, armed with a broken toy air-gun, took his stand behind a lamp pole and dared the officer to come near him. The policeman did not take the dare and the boy is still at large.

The General Council appropriated $10,000 to illuminate the city in honor of the Shrine's visit. That announcement was hardly made before Louisville ought to appear to be the best advantage when such a large host of strangers make pilgrimages within her gates, but who gets the $10,000? A Louisville firm or Louisville workmen? Nay! Say! The work was given to Cincinnati firms, who sent their own employees to Louisville to put up the work.

How is that for patronizing home industries and playing the friend of labor?

VENERABLE LADY DEAD.

Mrs. Margaret Mary Carroll, the venerable mother of Sister Margaret Mary, of the Order of Mercy, died early Monday morning at the convent of the Sisters of Mercy on East Broadway. Mrs. Carroll was ninety years old and a native of Ireland, but had spent the greater part of her life in Louisville. She died as she lived, a devout Christian, and passed away amid the prayers of the religious community in which she had spent her last days. All day Monday and Tuesday old friends of the deceased and former pupils of Sister Margaret Mary visited the convent to pay their last respects to the mortal remains of the dead woman. The funeral took place from St. Mary Magdalen's church on Wednesday morning, and the edifice was crowded with mourning friends.

SODALISTS' PILGRIMAGE.

Young lady sodalists from Lebanon, New Hope and Chicago, Ky., gathered at New Haven last week and were the guests of the Young Ladies' Sodality of that pretty little town. The hostesses met their guests at the railway station and all marched to St. Catherine's church, several blocks away, where solemn high mass was offered with the Rev. Father W. P. Horgan as celebrant. Father Thomas Jenkins, of New Hope, as deacon, Father Pike, of Chicago, as subdeacon, and Father James A. Horgan, of Lebanon, master of ceremonies. The choir of St. Augustine's church of Lebanon joined with the New Haven choir in furnishing the music. In the afternoon the young ladies held a business meeting and read several interesting papers.

FOURTH DEGREE

Exemplified On Class of Knights of Columbus Monday.

The fourth degree was exemplified for the first time in Louisville on the Knights of Columbus home, on Fourth avenue, last Monday afternoon. Robert A. Watson, Master of the fourth degree for Kentucky, was the master of ceremonies, and was assisted by State Deputy John T. Donovan, of Paducah, and P. H. Callahan, Dr. W. B. Doherty, S. M. Raffo, Albert S. Smith, Charles E. Taylor, J. William Klapheke, John M. Mulloy and John Coleman. A class of 175 was put through and the candidates represented councils at Louisville, Jeffersonville, New Albany, Newport, Paducah, Henderson, Uniontown, Lebanon, Owensboro, Indianapolis, Somerset and Huntington, W. Va.

At night there was a banquet at the Galt House. Judge Matt O'Doherty presided as toastmaster and the Rev. Father C. P. Rago, introduced the blessing. The introductory address was delivered by Robert A. Watson, of Louisville. J. M. Ryan, of Louisville, responded to the "Fourth Degree." John C. Talbot, of Bardonia, had for his subject "Mary, Our Patroness." "Coming Events Cast their Shadow Before" was the theme for Dr. J. W. Fowler, W. W. Spalding, of Lebanon, gave an idea of things that would come "As we grow older."

DRAMATIC CLUB

Organized by C. K. of A. Central Committee Has First Rehearsal.

A dramatic club to be conducted under the auspices of the Central Committee of the Catholic Knights of America was formally organized at St. Mary's Hall on Friday night of last week. Much to the gratification of the Central Committee fourteen young ladies and gentlemen, with histrionic talent presented themselves for enrollment, and ere long the roster will contain several additional names.

John Schalda, President of the Central Committee, was likewise made President of the dramatic club. Rev. Beckmann was elected secretary and Charles J. Desse, Treasurer. Ben Speaker was chosen Director and Stage Manager and Charles A. Hill property man. The organization will be known as the C. K. of A. Musical and Dramatic Club.

Rehearsal meetings will be held on the first and third Friday evenings of each month and at St. Mary's Hall, Eighth and Grayson streets. The club met again last night and had its first rehearsal. It will present the first public performance some time in September. Interesting talks were made by Messrs. Speaker, Desse, Feely, Schalda and Hill.

At the close of the business session and rehearsal refreshments were served and an hour was spent in social chats.

ABLE ADDRESSES

Delivered at Latest Meeting of Division 1, A. O. H.

Vice President Mark Ryan presided over the meeting of Division 1, A. O. H., Tuesday night, owing to the unavoidable absence of President Thomas Keenan. Among the addresses reported off the sick list and Charles J. Flanagan was reported improving. Attorney Thomas Walsh read a chapter of Irish history in impressive style and dwelt upon certain features of the chapter.

County President Patrick J. Welsh was among the visitors and when called upon for an address made some very interesting remarks concerning the establishment of the division at Lexington and other prospects and future work for the order. He urged all to attend the joint initiation of Division 13 and to take active interest in the celebration to be held at Phoenix Hill Park July 5.

SARCASTIC

Speech of Hon. Tim Healy Evoked Laughter in House of Commons.

William Redmond's Disability Bill Gets Second Reading.

Able Editor Shows Anomalous Position of the Tory Forces.

ORANGE LODGES ON THE ALERT

The bill introduced into British Parliament by Hon. William Redmond to remove disabilities has passed its second reading in the House of Commons, but only by a slight majority. Hon. Timothy Healy stood by the Irish Parliamentary party in the struggle, although he is not always in harmony with the other leaders. Mr. Healy made one of the most telling arguments in favor of the bill.

Mr. Healy said in part: "As I understand it the King reigns but does not govern. The Home Secretary covers the country and for many years the Home Secretary was a Catholic under a Tory Government, in the person of Henry Matthews, now Viscount Landaff. He conducted the whole operations of the country. That is what shocks me," said Mr. Healy sarcastically. "Here was a Tory Government with a Catholic Home Secretary, and during all that time these sentiments of alarm existed."

"And there were also these subversive sentiments alleged to be found in the Home Catholic books, which were generally a misrepresentation from the Latin. Then, what about Lord Russell, of Kilowood, who was Lord Chief Justice of England? He was a Papist, was it not? He was a Lord Chief Justice of England, and those terrible Jesuitical claims and declarations burning like a furnace in his Papistical heart? Why did they tolerate all that without a murmur?"

"Then what about one of the present Tory whips? I mean Lord Edmund Talbot. Was it safe to have a Tory whip nothing according to whose mood they were voting for? He was a Papist, was it not? He was a Tory whip, and he was voting for the division lobby for his party that he might be voting for the Catholic whip? The King safe with all these Catholics about him? There was the Duke of Norfolk, who held the crown before the King put it on—was that safe?"

The laughter of the members frequently punctuated Mr. Healy's address, but when it came to a vote almost every member of the House of Commons voted for the measure, and against it voted the Orange True Blues of Ulster and an array of their brother bigots representing English and Scotch constituencies.

"There are many curious anomalies in the laws of England, but possibly the strangest of all is the existence in these days of enlightenment and civilization of penal statutes against Catholics. In practice Catholics are not interfered with—save when a radical Government endeavors to drag into godless public schools the Catholic children whom the priests desire to have trained in a Christian faith. But in the laws of the British religious orders are outlawed. They can not hold property. Requests made to them are invalid. They are liable to imprisonment or banishment under old or unreppealed enactments of the latter—except an occasional raving Orangeman in the dog days. But the disabilities of the Catholic orders are troublesome, and at times entail a real injustice which is foreign to the spirit of freedom and equality of which our British neighbors boast. A Catholic may not sit upon the throne, and it is necessary for a monarch to swear on his accession an infamous and insulting oath to the effect that his Catholic subjects, from His Grace the Duke of Norfolk down, are 'idolaters and superstitious.' A Catholic can not be Chancellor of England nor Lord Lieutenant of Ireland."

"The Catholic, who only asks leave to practice the religion of Christ, is scorned and insulted, branded as an idolater, and debarrd from high offices in the State which are open to infidels and have been held by men of notoriously reprobate lives. And when it is proposed to rectify this anomaly and remove the relic of penal days from the statute books of Britain, every Orange lodge rises in holy horror and petitions Parliament not to destroy the last vestige of their old privileges and hand them over bound hand and foot to the tender mercies of Rome. And Parliament, supposed to be composed of men of enlightenment and education, responds it must be confessed rightly to the call."

The Western Review, a monthly journal devoted to fraternal insurance, says the largest Roman Catholic lodge in Chicago is the Catholic Foresters of America. This comprises a membership of 30,000 in Chicago. Its essential feature is fraternal insurance, and it has a strong BASE BALL.

Catholic Players Have Loaned Their Influence to the Game.

Interest Shown by President Taft Emphasizes the Fact.

Player Must Be Morally and Physically Clean to Win.

ONE CANDID SPORTING EDITOR

The daily papers this week heralded to the four winds what President Taft had to say about baseball as a sport, how he enjoyed the game at Pittsburgh Saturday and how he watched the bulletins of the games at his brother's home on Sunday. The great American people realize what President Taft said about the game being clean, wholesome and honest as true, but do the great American people realize what made baseball a clean, wholesome sport, and what element is keeping it clean, wholesome and scientific? Joseph S. Jackson, sporting editor of the Detroit Free Press, and a recognized authority in the baseball world, has given a few pointers on the subject that the secular papers in this section seem slow to take up.

"Catholics form a strong section of the army of young men now engaged on the diamond—an army that, with nearly forty professional baseball leagues now in the organized game, has become a force to be reckoned with," says Mr. Jackson, and he continues: "Men of almost every nationality have made it their mark in the professional sport, but the two nations that are most strikingly represented are the Irish and the Germans. The latter race produces great baseball players—sometimes brilliant and almost always steady and reliable. The Irish exponent is more likely to be erratic, and more likely to be a brilliant ball player, in a grueling race the average manager likes the Celt. He has the fighting spirit; never gives up. And that is what counts in a trying campaign."

"But to return to the original proposition, the attention that the Catholic young man in baseball pays to his religious duties. It may be stated as a general proposition that the young man of the faith who is a conscientious and practical Catholic before he enters baseball continues one during, and presumably after, his professional baseball career. If he would go to church when at home he will do so when with his club, and just as regularly when that club is on the road as when he is playing in the city whose name it bears. KENTUCKY IRISH AMERICAN.

Institute and Catholic Knights of America.

LOUISVILLE, KY. SATURDAY, JUNE 5, 1909.

JUST OVERLOOKED.

The Catholic Citizen of Rochester, N. Y., says editorially: "The Citizen is the only Catholic paper in the country selling for a dollar a year, containing throughout up-to-date reading matter from the Catholic viewpoint, printed each week from new linotype."

Surely the editor of the Catholic Citizen must have overlooked the Record and the Kentucky Irish American, both up-to-date, both printed from linotype and each selling for a dollar a year. New York and the Eastern States do not constitute the entire country.

HEAVEN IS JUDGE.

The Catholic Transcript claims that the Catholic church receives 9,000 English converts every year. Some one asks how long it will be before the whole nation is won to the faith. A pious and thoughtful editor answers splendidly: How long before the annual influx will reach 18,000? Converts make converts. If Catholics, new and old, are faithful to their vocation and exemplary in their lives, the number of conversions will increase annually by arithmetic progression. The problem, however, is taken outside the sphere of mathematics. It is a question of heart and conscience, and Heaven alone can judge of these things.

IRISH HOME COMING.

How many Irish-American residents of Kentucky are interested in the Irish home-coming project of next year? The Kentucky Irish American would like to find out.

Patrick Kilkenny, a lawyer practicing at the Washington bar, is father of the project. He believes that if many natives of Ireland and sons of Irishmen and women would visit the old land they would find rich opportunities for commercial enterprise. They would not only enjoy the beautiful scenery and dwell for a while in the land of saints, but they would find industries to be developed both in the agricultural and manufacturing lines.

The movement is being discussed favorably in the Eastern and Northern States, and certainly there ought to be some Kentuckians patriotic enough to take advantage of the occasion. The steamship lines will offer reduced rates and the accommodations in Ireland will be ample for the needs of all visitors.

If you are interested, let us hear from you. Write the Kentucky Irish American on the subject, and we may be able to give you further information.

IGNORED BIGOT.

The gardener of the State House grounds at Nashville, Tenn., happens to be an Irishman. In laying out the flower beds this year he had a cross as a central design in one of the beds. J. D. Kisher, a resident of Nashville, whose religious bigotry overshadows his enlightenment, rushed into print because a Catholic cross was displayed on public ground. Mr. Kisher is hearing from his rash act on all sides.

One reader of the Nashville American gets back this way: "It was with a feeling of amusement and pity that I read J. D. Kisher's communication in Saturday's American. It is quite plain to the minds of all intelligent people that he knows nothing of the laws of civilization governing this country. The cross is not the slogan of the son of the Emerald Isle any more than it is of almost all other nationalities, but is revered and respected by them as well as all other believers in Christ. It is such ignorance as this, if allowed to thrive on American soil, as would stunt and retard the intellectual and moral growth of a country, but the sentiment is so narrow that of course no attention should be given it, and I am quite certain our great and noble Governor can feel only contempt for the same. I am certain that the expert florist of the Emerald Isle can make a flower bed as pleasing to Mr. K.'s eye as the cross is distasteful, and I would suggest that he make a flower bed of the Kisher kind."

FRATERNAL INTERESTS.

It is a serious mistake to assume that the affairs of a fraternal society can be conducted by a close corporation. It is, on the contrary, absolutely necessary that officers of a fraternity take the members into their confidence. The members, when pointed out the necessity of any situation, will arise to the performance of the duties incident to the occasion. If there be a defeat in the plans, or if the compensation of the officers be insufficient, or if anything else arises requiring such action as will make for the best interests of the officers or members, the membership of the society can be depended upon when honestly told of the situation and put in possession of the facts with reference to it to authorize the action necessary. Because of the peculiar nature of fraternity, there is no divisibility of interest.

The best interests of the membership are promoted by the promotion of the interests of the officers and vice versa, and the fraternity that keeps its membership best informed as to all the acts and all the needs of the society, justly ranks among the most popular and progressive.

POPE PIUS' BIRTHDAY.

His Holiness Pope Pius X. was seventy-four years old last Tuesday, but in accordance with his wishes there was no public celebration of the day. Nevertheless the faithful over the entire world offered up prayers that he may reign many years and live to see the accomplishment of his ideal, the restoration of all things to Christ.

That filter plant that balks at filtering has cost millions; a new coagulating plant is about to be constructed; last week it was announced that the Board of Waterworks was contemplating a seven-story office building; now a big water basin to cost $110,000 is proposed. Is it any wonder that the Evening Post wants Sebastian Zora to be the Democratic candidate for Mayor?

What They Have Been Doing
 the Past Week—General
 News Notes.

Division 4 will not meet until a week from next Monday.

The Milwaukee division will initiate a class of 100 on June 10.

Jeffersonville Division continues to hold well attended and interesting meetings.

John J. Winn is certainly making a good drill master for Division 4's degree team.

The new division at Lexington will be established during the latter part of this month.

It is expected that about fifty of the local members will attend the Lexington initiation.

The coming picnic at Phoenix Hill Park promises to be the biggest money maker in years.

Every Hibernian in the city should attend the eucure and dance to be given by the Ladies' Auxiliary on June 16.

The County Board is making favorable progress in arranging for the picnic at Phoenix Hill Park on Monday, July 5.

At Duluth, Minn., the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Cathedral parish followed the recent initiation with an informal social session.

Division 2 of Syracuse, N. Y., is making rapid progress. It added fifteen names to its roster of 100 at an initiation last week.

Congressman James G. Graham, of Springfield, Ill., will be the orator of the day at the Hibernian outing at Milwaukee on August 7.

The County Board at Manchester, N. H., has offered a prize of $50 for the winning team in a ball game at the picnic and field day on July 5.

James C. Rogers, Circuit Clerk at Lexington, spent Sunday and Monday in Louisville. He says the new division in his city will start with seventy-five men.

Division officers should notify their candidates to be on hand promptly at 2 o'clock a week from tomorrow, when there will be a joint initiation at Bertrand Hall.

Division 2, Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Paul, has already initiated fifty candidates as a result of its green and gold contest, but the gold side of the division scored the most points.

Members of the order and the Catholic Mutual Benevolent Association to the number of 200 went to holy communion at St. Stephen's church in Buffalo last Sunday.

The "green side" entertained the "gold side" of Division 8, of the Ladies' Auxiliary of St. Paul, at a banquet last week. Many gentlemen from Division 8 of St. Paul were present and enjoyed the feast.

The four local divisions of the Ancient Order of Hibernians will hold a joint initiation at Bertrand Hall at 2 o'clock on the afternoon of Sunday, June 13. County President Patrick J. Welsh will preside and the degrees will be exempted by a team from Division 4. The team has been rehearsing several weeks and it is said has the work down fine. Each division will present several candidates.

Fontaine Ferry Park had a record breaking crowd for the season last Sunday and all enjoyed the delightful open air concert and other attractions. In order to welcome the Shriners new attractions will be inaugurated next week, the restaurant will be prepared to feed the hungry and ample entertainment will be furnished all who visit this delightful resort.

STRONG MEN NAMED.

Irish-Americans of Covington seem to have fared very well in the Kentucky county Democratic primary last Saturday. Frank Tracy was nominated for Circuit Judge, J. B. Dillon for County Clerk, Walter Clancy for County Judge, E. H. Kennedy for Superintendent of County Schools and Joseph Kennedy for County Surveyor.

FAREWELL RECEPTION.

National President Matthew Cummings, of the A. O. H., and the Rev. Father P. H. O'Donnell, also of Boston, were tendered a farewell reception at the Gresham Hotel on the eve of their departure for America. The most prominent members of the Sinn Fein organization in Dublin attended the reception.

DR. MOIR ENTERS.

Dr. Charles Moir, one of the most popular physicians in the city, has announced his candidacy for Coroner, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Dr. Moir is a life long Democrat and also a champion of union labor. His friends believe that he will add strength to the ticket if nominated, which means his election.

IMPOSTERS AT WORK.

The Sisters of Mercy, who conduct the Sacred Heart Home on East College street, have warned the public that unauthorized persons have been soliciting orders for the enlargement of photographs of the home and for the sake of charity. The use of the name of the Sacred Heart Home is fraudulent.

HONOR FOR EGAN.

There is a well defined rumor in Washington, D. C., that Hon. Maurice

 States Minister to Denmark, has been

ASHLAND LEADS.

Kentucky Town Had Three Brothers in Fourth Degree.

Local Knights of Columbus think Ashland is coming some. It was the only town in the State to furnish three brothers for the fourth degree last Monday. Two came to Louisville to receive theirs and the elder brother got his in Washington, D. C. J. T. Serey, manager of the White Oak Coal Company, at Richmond, Va., went to Washington, while James G. Serey, with the Merchants' Bank and Trust Company at Ashland, and Robert J. Serey, chemist at the Norton Iron Works at Ashland, came to Louisville. A fourth brother, H. L. Serey, is now in third degree and expects to take the fourth at the earliest opportunity. Misses Irene and Rose Serey accompanied their brothers to Louisville.

Among others who came from the East to take the fourth at Louisville were Rev. Father Ahmeyer, W. J. Danaher and T. M. Scanlan, all of Huntington, W. Va., and Rev. Father Finnigan, of Montgomery, W. Va.

APPRECIATION

Shown by St. Cecilia's Conference For Certain Courtesies.

Capt. Julius Hild, of the Board of Children's Guardians, is very proud of a letter of thanks he received this week from John McQuose, Secretary of St. Cecilia's Conference of St. Vincent de Paul Society. The letter was in reference to the kindly attention given by Father Ahmeyer, his wife, Catherine Coyle, the former seventy and the latter sixty-eight years old. The couple were in dire distress until Capt. Hild found them a home.

The tenor of the letter to Capt. Hild was: "St. Cecilia's Conference of St. Vincent de Paul Society wishes to thank you for the assistance you rendered in securing a home for Mr. and Mrs. Coyle, and the interest you have shown in this old couple. We also want to thank you for sending one of your men with them."

SAFE AT HOME.

Heine Peltz and His Team
Back From Long Swing.

The Colonels arrived home Tuesday night after a twenty-eight-day swing over the American Association circuit, and opened a series of games with the Minneapolis team on Wednesday afternoon. The Kansas City ball team, headed by the veteran Jake Beckley, is scheduled to begin a series of four games with Louisville at Eclipse Park this afternoon. St. Paul will follow the Cowboys as adversaries of the Colonels. While the Louisville team did not return home in first place, it played consistent ball during its long absence from home and returned well anchored in second place. The fans believe that Heine Peltz and his players will improve wonderfully during the fortnight at home, and that the team will be holding first place or very close to it before they start away again.

BRIGHT PROSPECTS.

The Falls City Bowling League held its annual election of officers on Tuesday evening and elected the following: Frank Dacher, President; Frank P. Burke, Vice President; A. E. Martin, Secretary; Fred S. Schmidt, Treasurer. On account of the rapid strides made in bowling a popular indoor game the last couple of years the coming season promises to be the banner year of the Falls City Bowling League under the guidance of the capable officials just chosen.

PLEASANTS CIGAR FACTORY.

P. Pleasants, who recently came to Louisville from Bloomington, Ind., has established a cigar factory on Twelfth street, between Mahi and Market, under the name of the Pleasants Cigar Company. The new factory is now in full operation and Mr. Pleasants is prepared to furnish first class union made smokes to all dealers.

FOR CONSTABLE.

Charles P. Keenan, one of the oldest and best known contractors and teamsters in the West End, has announced his candidacy for Constable in the Eighth Magisterial District, which comprises the Eleventh and Twelfth wards, subject to the action of the Democratic party. Mr. Keenan is well known and popular in his district. He resides at 2205 St. Xavier street and has a host of friends that will go to the front for him.

YOUNG CLEMENTS WINS.

Gerald S. Clements won the gold medal awarded for oratory at the closing exercises of the Columbian College at Owensboro last Saturday. Young Clements is only fifteen years old and is a son of Hon. La Vega Clements, one of the best known lawyers in Western Kentucky, and at present seeking the Democratic nomination for Congress in the second district. A peculiar coincidence is that the medal was donated to the college by the father of the boy who won it.

NEW STATUE BLESSED.

The new statue of St. Joseph that adorns Holy Cross church on West Broadway was blessed last Sunday afternoon by the Rev. Father Constantine, C. P., who also preached a sermon on the feast of Pentecost. The children of the parochial school and several hundred adults attended the exercises. The new statue is the gift of Col. John H. Whallen.

FATHER KOENIG'S NERVE TONIC

What the Dominican Nuns Say. 8 Under date of September 6, 1908. Two members of our community have tried Father Koening's Nerve Tonic with favorable results. It has a most charming effect on the nervous system.

The sisters of the Good Shepherd at Poorville, Ind., write: "We used 2 bottles of Father Koening's Nerve Tonic for a case of aggravated and obstinate insomnia, with extreme nervousness. The second bottle is not finished and a cure has been brought when a physician worked in vain for 2 months. The patient sleeps like a child and the nervousness is less each day."

For sufferers from weak nerves Father Koening's Nerve Tonic is indispensable. It makes the feeling of anxiety disappear at once, one sleeps better and feels like getting stronger. This remedy is also good for bad stomachs. It could not be better. I highly recommend it to all nervous people.

MRS. A. WADEBER.

RECENT DEATHS.

Mr. and Mrs. William Fair have the sympathy of many friends in their grief over the death of their little daughter Madeline, who passed away Saturday night. The child was eight years old and was loved by all.

The funeral took place from the family residence, 123 North Fourth street, Monday afternoon. Patrick Connelly, a young man well and favorably known in the East End, died at the family residence, 907 Franklin street, Monday evening. He had been ill several weeks. He was the son of Patrick Connelly, who died last fall. The funeral took place from St. John's church Wednesday morning. The sympathy of a large circle of friends is extended to his bereaved mother, Mrs. Bridget Connelly.

BAZAR WAS SUCCESS.

The bazar in St. Francis Hall for the benefit of the Cathedral was a successful close last Saturday evening. To the gratification of the Rev. Father P. M. J. Rook, rector of the Cathedral, the bazar was a great success and several thousand dollars will be cleared when all the accounts are footed up.

ST. CATHERINE'S.

The eighty-seventh annual commencement exercises of the academy of St. Catherine of Siena will be held in the academy hall, near Springfield, on Tuesday morning, June 15. Many Louisville people will attend these exercises.

CHANGE HOURS.

Beginning tomorrow the masses on Sunday at St. Cecilia's church will be celebrated at 9:30 and 10 o'clock.

CONVENTION

In July Will Name the Democratic Nominees For Office.

The Democratic candidates for city and county offices to be elected in November will be chosen at a mass convention to be held in Louisville on Friday, July 2. District conventions to select delegates to the mass convention will be held on Thursday afternoon, July 1. This much has been settled by the Democratic City and County Committee, which met on Wednesday afternoon. Every member of the committee was present and all seemed alive to the necessity of naming clean, intelligent and energetic Democrats for every office.

The leaders of the party realize that victory is possible in November if the right men are chosen. The present judiciary is very strong. With these six judges and a representative Democrat nominated for Mayor the ticket will start off well. There is no dearth of material in the party, and the people are clamoring for good, honest Democrats for every office from Mayor to Constable.

LARGE CLASS

Will Be Instructed Into Mysteries of K. Cs. at Paducah.

A class of seventy candidates will receive the three degrees in the Knights of Columbus at Paducah tomorrow afternoon. A. Connolly will celebrate the mass and preach a sermon appropriate to the occasion. The initiatory exercises will begin at 10 o'clock. Mulloy and the degree team from Louisville Council. There will be a banquet in the evening, with Col. John J. Dorlan, of Paducah, presiding as toastmaster. Those who will respond to toasts are G. L. Drury, of Morganfield; John Talbot, of Bardonia, and Attorney J. J. Kavanagh, of Louisville.

RIVERVIEW PARK.

Riverview Park enjoyed the patronage of another large crowd last Sunday, and all who visited the park were well repaid for their attendance. The trees and flowers are now at their prettiest, the amusement devices are engrossing and the music by Don Phillipini's band is superb. During the coming week the park will be festively decorated in honor of the Shrine and attractive open air concerts will be rendered daily.

WON PIANO.

Miss Nora Brown, Gov. Willson's private stenographer, won the piano contest and was awarded the piano offered by the Frankfort News. The contest closed last Saturday night. Miss Brown received 600,000 votes or 100,000 more than her closest competitor. She is a Louisville girl and was formerly a resident of St. Xavier's parish. When Gov. Willson was inaugurated Miss Brown went to Frankfort to assume her duties as his stenographer.

WATCHED THE COACH.

St. Xavier's baseball team had a banquet at Klein's restaurant Monday night, and covers were laid for sixteen. Rev. Brother James, President of the college, was toastmaster, and at an appropriate moment presented Martin J. Musselman, the ball team's coach, a handsome gold watch on behalf of the college. Mr. Musselman responded in a few well chosen words. On the following day St. Xavier's team defeated the Louisville High School team by a score of eight to four.

OUT OF DANGER.

Hon. William O'Brien, who resigned from the British Parliament as the member from Cork, has undergone a serious surgical operation at Venice. He is now reported out of danger.
